Allen Corporation of America's (Allen) Aviation & Training Services Division Awarded Five Year Contract by the Federal Aviation Administration

November 6, 2020. Allen Corporation of America was awarded a five-year indefinite delivery/indefinite quantity contract by the Federal Aviation Administration, with the estimated value of $68,440,276.56. Under this contract Allen Corporation will provide Flight Program Participant Flight Training, Dispatch Support, Administrative Support, Management Support and Monthly Airframe Rental Fee for flight training operations to be conducted primarily at Alliance Airport, Fort Worth, TX. Training and currency/proficiency services provide FAA flight program participants with the proficiency and skills needed to conduct their primary job functions to support safe operations within the National Airspace System (NAS). The aircraft utilized for training and currency/proficiency services include a variety of multi- and single engine airplanes, helicopters, simulators, and the King Air C90GTi. Allen selected partners with best-in-class aviation asset reputations; MBM Aviation Consultants, Inc. and ATP USA. Award of this contract represents the continuation of a long-established relation between the FAA and Allen Corporation.
